

HALFWAY HUT OPUREKE

Topo50 Maps: BH38 Te Haroto

GPS: NZTM on WGS84

How to get to START:

- Exit Taupo on SH5 for Napier
- Straight on through Rangitaiki
- 40 minutes (52.4km) turn left off SH5 on to Pohokurua Road
- Cross bridge to T-junction and go left on to Waipunga Valley Road (rough at start)
- At 58.7km a rough vehicle track joins the road from the east; this is the start.
- Parking space a few metres more on Waipunga Road, approximately 1 hour

NB: Following the 2016 winter snows the track into the hut became virtually impassable

Rough Description: This tramp, though with not too many kilometres, would be classified at the upper end of the moderate scale as it takes about 6 hours with fair rough-country walking skills required to get through unharmed. The target is a Hunters' Bivvy just off the Opureke Track, which at one time would appear to have been well formed and used with many triangular orange track markers still to be found. However the going is tough as the terrain is strongly sloping and encroaching vegetation makes finding the footfall positions tricky.

Detail: The track starts some 5km up Waipunga Road and it is quite easy to find the parking space (WP01709masl), start looking when on the loop passing the washed-out bridge (WP00700masl). The track (WP02708masl) heads SE from the road and heads uphill and swings round to head NE and would be useable by a 4WD vehicle. About 700m up this grunty track a clearing (WP03773masl) is reached with the Opureke track heading off NE on the immediate left (WP04775masl). This is a true back-country track, narrow with heavy vegetation in good native forest with many large trees. It will be noticed that there are orange DoC track markers as the track heads up then down to soon cross a small stream – easy.

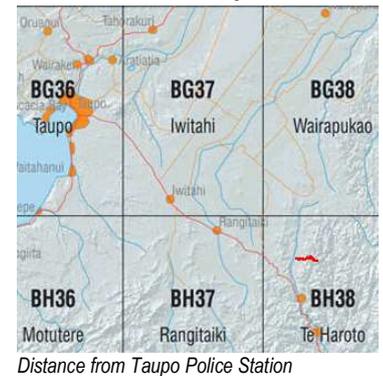

There is not a lot to describe as the track wends its way slowly to the NE through the dense forest and quite rapidly gains altitude and at this point the track can be described as fairly good. A double trunked Totara is found on the RHS after about 50 minutes as the track heads SE. Slopes seem to get a bit more regular and steeper then a sidle starts on a saddle (WP061005masl) below Opureke and continues to the NE for over a kilometre where, on looking carefully, a small turn off left leads to an open area (WP07971masl) which is perfect for morning tea. The exit from the clearing is in the top left hand corner and swings in a loop to the right and quite steeply downhill to intersect the track (WP08971masl). If the clearing cannot be located just stay on the main track and find another spot for a refreshment break.

The route now heads E to ESE with a few way-pointed distinctive turns to avoid the high points; one of the turns is sharply to the N to then loop round to head SE and ascend to the high point of the day (WP111057masl). The SE heading is held for about 1.5km to another clear turn (WP121004masl) to get round a spur followed by yet another clear bend (WP13980masl) from SE to NE. In all this recently covered section the vegetation is very thick and encroaches on to the track making going quite tricky at times and, if one can look down, there are very steep slopes suggesting falling off the track would not be a good idea.

If a large severely gullied line or washout is reached do not cross it as the turn for Halfway Hut has just been passed. Turn back and head steeply uphill (WP14936masl) following some pink ribbons – this can hardly be recognised as a track and is almost a scramble at times. Five or six minutes up here there is a clearing (WP15973masl), which may be big enough to act as a helipad, then there is a way through the spindly bush that swings to the right to look directly on to the roof of the target bivvy (WP16968masl). The track then leads round left to arrive at the door.

The bivvy is very simple with plastic sheeting for a roof, a door good enough to close properly and keep the elements out, a fireplace (which does work), a bench for kitchen-work and a couple of bunk spaces – but you might want to bring your own mattress! The walk out was some 40 minutes quicker than the way in but the time spent having morning tea would have accounted for most of this. A grunty walk, great forest, few birds but a lot of interesting fungi.
